DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-10 are presented in the instant application according to the Applicant' filing on 03/26/2004.

Abstract

1. The abstract is objected to because it contains two (2) separate pages, it is suggested to delete or remove the second page, which includes the reference numbers.
2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Art Unit: 2816

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lin (U.S. Patent No. 6,798,259).

With respect to claim 1, Lin discloses, in Fig. 1, a clock distortion detector comprising a first input for receiving a first clock signal [CIN]; a second input for receiving a second clock signal [CIN']; and at least one mirror delay element [12].

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 10 is allowed.

6. Claims 2-9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The closest prior art of record does not show or fairly suggest:

a) A clock distortion detector including a first mirror delay element, comprising two inputs and two outputs; and a second mirror delay element, comprising two inputs and two outputs, in which a second output of the first mirror delay element is coupled with a first input of the second mirror delay element, and a first output of the second mirror delay element is coupled with a second input of the first mirror delay element, as called for in claim 2; and

b) A clock distortion detection method including the step of applying a clock signal to a control input second mirror delay element, in which a signal output by a first mirror delay element is applied to the second mirror delay element, and a signal output by the second mirror delay element is applied to the first mirror delay element, in combination with the remaining claimed limitations, as called for in independent claim 10.

Citation of Relevant Prior Art

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Prior art Kirsch (U.S. Patent No. 6,727,740) discloses a synchronous mirror delay circuit and method including a ring oscillator for timing coarse and fine delay intervals.
